

Announcement

Electronic submission will be available from January 2006 with Manuscript Central

Using an online submission and review system, Manuscript Central, beginning in January 2006, it will be possible to submit and track your manuscript for Surgery Today with ease. Manuscript Central offers a complete Internet-based environment for the submission and management of manuscripts. Authors are requested to begin using Manuscript Central immediately after its implementation for submission of manuscripts. After the system goes into operation in January 2006, manuscripts submitted via postal mail can no longer be accepted.